

CHAPTER iv.

An Act to amend the Staffordshire Potteries Stipendiary Justice Acts 1839 to 1895. [25th April 1945.]

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the second year of the reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria intituled "An Act to provide for the more effectual execution of the office of a justice of the peace within and adjoining to the district called the Staffordshire Potteries and for purposes connected therewith" (in this Act called "the Act of 1839"):

And whereas the Act of 1839 has been amended and extended by the Staffordshire Potteries Stipendiary Justice Act 1871 and the Staffordshire Potteries Stipendiary Justice Act 1895 (in this Act respectively referred to as "the Act of 1871" and "the Act of 1895"):

And whereas it is expedient to enlarge the powers of the commissioners acting under the said Acts in regard to the salaries to be paid by them to the stipendiary magistrate appointed under those Acts and to that magistrate's clerk:

And whereas it is expedient that the other provisions contained in this Act be enacted:

And whereas the purposes of this Act cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted and be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows (that is to say):—

1. This Act may be cited as the Staffordshire Potteries Stipendiary Justice Act 1945 and the Staffordshire Potteries collective titles.

Stipendiary Justice Acts 1839 to 1895 and this Act may be cited together as the Staffordshire Potteries Stipendiary Justice Acts 1839 to 1945.

Salary of magistrate.

2. Section 8 (Power to increase salary of magistrate) of the Act of 1895 shall as from the thirty-first day of December nineteen hundred and forty-four be read and have effect as if the words "not exceeding one thousand seven hundred and fifty pounds" were therein inserted instead of the words "one thousand two hundred and fifty pounds."

Salary of magistrate's clerk.

3. As from the thirty-first day of December nineteen hundred and forty-four—

(a) Section 7 (Justice to appoint clerk) of the Act of 1839 shall be read and have effect as if the words "not exceeding one thousand pounds" were therein inserted instead of the words "not exceeding two hundred and fifty pounds";

(b) Section 22 (Salary of magistrate's clerk) of the Act of 1871 shall be repealed.

Costs of Act.

4. All costs charges and expenses attending or incident to the preparing and applying for and passing of this Act shall be paid by the Commissioners appointed by or under the provisions of the Act of 1895 out of any money now in their hands or to be received by them under the Staffordshire Potteries Stipendiary Justice Acts 1839 to 1895.
