

ELIZABETH II

1972 CHAPTER iv

An Act to confer powers on the Secretary of State for the Environment to grant a lease of land and buildings on the Victoria Embankment to the University of London King's College; and for other purposes.

[23rd March 1972]

WHEREAS pursuant to the provisions of section 73 of the Thames Embankment Act 1862, the land described in the Schedule to this Act was annexed to and formed part of Somerset House and by virtue of the said section and of the provisions of certain other enactments was under the management of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Works and Public Buildings until 1872: 1862 c. 93.

And whereas the said land in 1872 immediately adjoined the buildings of the Governors and Proprietors of King's College, London, and they were desirous of obtaining a lease of and occupying it for the purposes of the Royal Charter incorporating the College dated 14th August, 1829, but doubts arose as to whether the said Commissioners had power to grant such lease and as it was expedient that the said Commissioners should grant a lease for a period of 99 years to the said Governors and Proprietors an agreement empowering them so to do was confirmed by the Somerset House (King's College Lease) Act 1873:

1908 c. xxxix.

And whereas in 1900 the University of London was reconstituted and a close association between the University and the College developed so that it became expedient in 1908 for the powers and duties of the College in relation to instruction in subjects comprised within the departments of the College, other than the department of theology, to be transferred to the University and the expediency was effected by the King's College London (Transfer) Act 1908:

And whereas since 1872 the land and buildings have formed part of King's College, London, and notwithstanding the expiration of the lease on 29th September, 1971, it is expedient that the land should continue to form part of the College and the University:

And whereas section 3 of the said Act of 1908 transferred the secular departments of the College to the University and section 4 of that Act provided for the College to grant leases or sub-leases to the University of the lands and buildings occupied by those departments and accordingly the College granted a sub-lease for the residue of the term remaining unexpired from 1st August, 1909, to the University of the land contained in the lease authorised by the said Act of 1873 together with the buildings erected thereon:

And whereas by the said section 4, in respect of the lands and buildings of which the fee simple was vested in the College, the College granted leases to the University for terms of 999 years and it is further expedient that the Secretary of State for the Environment should grant to the University a lease for the term of 999 years upon the terms and conditions hereinafter described of the land referred to in the said Act of 1873:

And whereas it is further expedient that the said Secretary of State should have the further powers of leasing the said land and buildings as are hereinafter mentioned:

And whereas it is further expedient that the other provisions contained in this Act should be enacted:

And whereas the purposes of this Act cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted, and be it enacted, by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) This Act may be cited as the University of London King's College (Lease) Act 1972. Short title and repeal.

(2) The Somerset House (King's College Lease) Act 1873 is hereby repealed. 1873 c. 4.

2.—(1) Within one month of the passing of this Act the Secretary of State for the Environment shall grant and the University of London shall accept a lease of the scheduled land together with the buildings thereon and the appurtenances thereof for the term of 999 years. Lease of scheduled land.

(2) The rent to be reserved to the said Secretary of State in any such lease shall be a nominal rent and other usual or proper covenants or provisions shall be inserted in any such lease.

(3) In this Act "the scheduled land" means the land which is described in the Schedule to this Act and shown coloured pink on a plan marked "Plan of the scheduled land" signed in quadruplicate by the Right Honourable the Earl of Listowel, the Chairman of the Committee of the House of Lords to whom the Bill for this Act was referred, one copy of which has been deposited at the office of the Clerk of the Parliaments, House of Lords, one at the Private Bill Office, House of Commons, one at the office of the Secretary of State for the Environment and one at Senate House, University of London, Bloomsbury, London W.C.1.

3. After the determination of the lease to be granted pursuant to this Act, the Secretary of State for the Environment shall have the same powers of leasing the scheduled land as he has of leasing any other lands under his management. Powers of
of lease.

4. The costs, charges and expenses preliminary to and of and incidental to the preparation of and the application for and the obtaining and passing of this Act shall be paid by the University of London out of funds available for and allocated to the purposes and use of King's College, London. Costs of Act
