and extent.

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Coal Mines Act, 1932, and the Coal Mines Acts, 1887 to 1931, and this Act may be cited together as the Coal Mines Acts, 1887 to 1932.

(2) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland.

CHAPTER 30.

An Act to provide for the imposition of customs duties on goods imported directly or indirectly from the Irish Free State with a view to making good any loss incurred by, or any additional charge imposed on, any public fund of the United Kingdom by reason of any failure of the Government of the Irish Free State to implement their obligations, and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid.

[12th July 1932.]

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, Your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Commons of the United Kingdom in Parliament assembled, with a view to making good any loss incurred by, or any additional charge imposed on, any public fund of the United Kingdom by reason of any failure of the Government of the Irish Free State to implement their obligations, have freely and voluntarily resolved to give and grant unto Your Majesty the duties for which provision is hereinafter contained; and do therefore most humbly beseech Your Majesty that it may be enacted, and be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) If it appears to the Treasury that any failure of the Government of the Irish Free State to implement their obligations has resulted, or is likely to result, in a direct loss to the revenue of any public fund of the United Kingdom or in an additional charge on any such fund, then, subject to the provisions of this Act, the Treasury, with a view to the making good of the loss or the additional charge, may, after consultation with any Government department which appears to the Treasury to be interested, by Order made for the purposes of this Act, direct that there shall be charged on the importation into the United Kingdom of articles of any class or description imported from the Irish Free State, or exported from the Irish Free State to any other country and thence brought into the United Kingdom, such duties of customs as may be specified in the Order, and any duty so directed to be charged shall, for all purposes, be deemed to be chargeable under this Act:

Power of the Treasury to impose duties.

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall apply to any articles imported or brought as aforesaid which are shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners of Customs and Excise to have been imported into the Irish Free State in the same condition as that in which they were exported therefrom.

(2) The duties to be charged as aforesaid—

- (a) may be charged by reference to value or to weight or to any other measure of quantity as may be provided in the Order; and
- (b) shall not exceed one hundred per cent. of the value of the articles.

22 & 23

Geo. 5. c. 8.

(3) Any duty chargeable under this Act on any article shall be chargeable in addition to any other duty of customs for the time being chargeable thereon, whether under the Import Duties Act, 1932, or otherwise, and articles chargeable with duty under this Act shall not for the purpose of the said Act be deemed to be chargeable with a duty of customs by or under an enactment other than the said Act.

(4) The Commissioners of Customs and Excise may make such regulations as may be necessary for preventing the evasion of duty chargeable under this Act in the case of articles brought into the United Kingdom from a country other than the Irish Free State or otherwise for carrying this Act into effect.

(5) Orders and regulations made under this Act shall be laid before the Commons House of Parliament as soon as may be after they are made.

(6) An Order made under this Act shall cease to have effect on the expiration of twenty-eight days from the date on which it is made, unless at some time before the expiration of that period it has been approved by resolution passed by the Commons House of Parliament, but without prejudice to anything previously done thereunder or to the making of a new order.

(7) Regulations made under this Act shall cease to have effect if the Commons House of Parliament within a period of twenty-eight days from the date on which the regulations are laid before the House resolves that the regulations shall be annulled but without prejudice to anything previously done thereunder or to the making of new regulations.

(8) In reckoning any such period of twenty-eight days as aforesaid, no account shall be taken of any time during which Parliament is dissolved or prorogued, or during which the Commons House is adjourned for more than four days.

(9) An Order made under this Act may be varied or revoked by a subsequent Order made in the like manner and subject to the like provisions.

Value of articles for purposes of Act.

2. Sections fifteen and sixteen of the Import Duties Act, 1932 (which relate respectively to the determination for the purposes of that Act of the value of goods and of disputes as to the value of goods), shall apply for the purpose of the charge of duties under this Act as they apply for the purpose of the charge of duties under that Act.

3.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Irish Free State (Special Duties) Act, 1932. Short title and construction.

(2) In this Act the expression “the United Kingdom” does not include the Isle of Man.

CHAPTER 31.

An Act to authorise the publication of banns and the solemnization of marriages in naval, military, and air force chapels.

[12th July 1932.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) The use of any chapel to which this Act applies for the publication therein of banns of marriages to which this Act applies, and for the solemnization therein, whether according to the rites of the Church of England or otherwise, of such marriages, may be authorised under and subject to the provisions of this Act. Solemniza-tion of marriages in naval,
military,
and air force
chapels.

(2) This Act shall apply only to chapels which are certified by the Admiralty to be naval chapels and to chapels which are certified by a Secretary of State to be military or air force chapels, and shall apply only to marriages between parties of whom one at least is a qualified person, that is to say, a person who, at the relevant date—

(a) is serving in the Royal Navy, the Royal Marines, the Regular Land Forces or the Regular Air Forces; or
