(2) Section four of this Act shall be construed as one with the Alkali, &c., Works Regulation Act, 1906, and the other provisions of this Act in their application to London shall be construed as one with the Public Health (London) Act, 1891, but save as aforesaid this Act shall be construed as one with the Public Health Acts, 1875 to 1925. Provided that in the application to London of such other provisions of this Act as aforesaid the expression "local authority" shall mean the sanitary authority within the meaning of the Public Health (London) Act, 1891, save as otherwise in this Act provided.

(3) This Act shall not apply to Scotland or Northern Ireland.

(4) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and twenty-seven.

CHAPTER 44.

An Act to amend the law with respect to the salaries and pensions of persons hereafter appointed to be judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature of Northern Ireland, and with respect to certain matters connected with that Court. [15th December 1926.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Salaries and pensions of future
judges.
40 & 41 Vict.
c. 57.

1.—(1) Section eighteen of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Ireland) Act, 1877 (which determines the salaries payable to judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature of Northern Ireland) shall, as respects judges appointed after the commencement of this Act, have effect as if for the salaries mentioned in that section there were substituted as the salaries which shall be paid to such judges, including in each case any pension to which the judge may be entitled in respect of any public office previously filled by him, the following salaries respectively:—

To the Lord Chief Justice of Northern Ireland, four thousand five hundred pounds a year:

To each ordinary judge of the Court of Appeal in Northern Ireland, three thousand five hundred pounds a year:

To each of the other judges of the High Court of Justice in Northern Ireland, three thousand pounds a year.

(2) The pension which may be granted under section nineteen of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Ireland) Act, 1877, to an ordinary judge of the Court of Appeal in Northern Ireland appointed after the commencement of this Act shall, instead of being of the amount provided by that section, be of an amount equal to two-thirds of his salary.

2. Notwithstanding anything in any Act, the Supreme Court of Judicature of Northern Ireland, or any division or judge thereof, may direct the trial without a jury of any cause, matter, or issue (not being a criminal cause or matter or an issue arising in criminal proceedings) requiring any prolonged examination of documents or accounts, or any scientific or local investigation which cannot, in the opinion of the court or judge, conveniently be made with a jury.

Power to direct trial without jury in matters requiring prolonged examination of documents, &c.

3. The reservation by section forty-seven of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, of matters relating to the Supreme Court of Northern Ireland shall not be construed as precluding the Parliament of Northern Ireland from having power, subject to the other provisions of that Act, to make laws in respect of the following matters in relation to jurors and juries in that Court, namely, the preparation and revision of jury lists, and the qualification, selection, summoning and attendance of jurors.

Explanation of powers of Parliament of Northern Ireland to legislate with respect to jurors and juries. 10 & 11 Geo. 5. c. 67.

4. This Act may be cited as the Supreme Court of Judicature of Northern Ireland Act, 1926.

Short title.
