

CHAPTER lxxv.

An Act to extend the times for the construction of certain tramways and the acquisition of certain lands by the Bristol Tramways and Carriage Company Limited to revive and extend the powers for the acquisition by the Company of lands forming part of their electricity generating station at Bristol and for other purposes. A.D. 1922.
[4th August 1922.]

WHEREAS the Bristol Tramways and Carriage Company Limited (in this Act called "the Company") are under or by virtue of the Bristol Tramways Acts 1872 to 1915 the owners of the electric tramways and light railways in the city of Bristol and various districts adjacent thereto which with large omnibus services provided by the Company form part of a large traffic system which has been established and is worked by the Company in the said city and districts :

And whereas the tramways and light railways of the Company extend for a distance of upwards of thirty route miles and the Company are empowered under the said Acts to make considerable extensions thereof :

And whereas it is expedient that the times now limited by an Order of the Ministry of Transport made under the Special Acts (Extension of Time) Act 1915 and dated the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (in this Act called "the Extension of Time Order") for the compulsory purchase of lands required for the purpose of certain tramways and of a portion of another tramway authorised by the Bristol

A.D. 1922.      Tramways (Extensions) Act 1904 (in this Act called —      “ the Act of 1904 ”) and for the purposes of the street and road widenings authorised by the Act of 1904 in connection therewith and for the construction of the said tramways and portion of a tramway should be revived and extended as in this Act is hereafter set forth :

And whereas by the Bristol Tramways (Extensions) Act 1898 the Company were authorised to construct several extensions of their tramways in the said city of Bristol and the neighbourhood thereof and by the Bristol Tramways (Electrical Power &c.) Act 1898 (in this Act called “ the Act of 1898 ”) the Company were authorised to enter upon take and use certain lands and warehouses formerly known as the Counterslip Sugar Refinery situate in the said city and more particularly described in the said Act and thereon to construct a station for generating electrical power and to generate electrical power for working their tramways thereby but the Company omitted to acquire within the time limited in that behalf by the Act of 1898 certain interests in part of the said lands :

And whereas since the passing of the Act of 1898 the tramway system of the Company has been considerably extended under the powers of various Acts and Orders in that behalf and the whole of the said system and the Company's light railway system is now worked electrically by means of the said generating station :

And whereas it is expedient that the powers for the compulsory purchase of the part of the site of the said generating station which the Company so omitted to acquire as aforesaid should be revived and extended and that the Company should be empowered to acquire the same as by this Act provided :

And whereas a plan of the land required or which may be taken under the powers of this Act and a book of reference thereto have been deposited with the clerk of the peace for the county of Gloucester and are in this Act respectively referred to as the deposited plan and book of reference :

And whereas the objects of this Act cannot be attained without the authority of Parliament :

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted and be it enacted by the King's most Excellent

Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows :—
